Care & Handling of Stainless Steel Flatware

Though stainless steel is highly resistant to stain and corrosion, proper care must be taken to make sure the flatware is cleaned in a manner that will assure its cleanliness and longevity. Flatware should be pre-soaked before washing, rinsing and drying. Use chemicals recommended for cleaning flatware and follow the instructions as specified. Harsh detergents and chemicals may cause severe corrosion. If a low temperature dishwasher is used, please make sure you follow manufacturers instructions.
